

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. If Sinclair is allowed to air this "so-called" documentary, then Senator Kerry should be able to air "Up the River" without fail.

The Public would be better served if neither documentary is shown. This is America and we don't need media conglomerates such as Sinclair to influence the citizenry votes so that it will be able to reap financial benefits.
